Miss Seright, in a silver Elks car, rode with the senior nominees, Misses Pat Hodson, Judy Franks

Next came two crosses, which are placed in the ballot squares or circles, and the band played a Democratic song and a Republican song at the same time. A Capital Dome was then formed.

Queen Crowned

After last night's football game an elaborate coronation ceremony was held at the high school as a climax to the annual Homecoming Dance, Miss Seright receiving the crown and scepter from Jim Cummins, Bull Dog football captain.

Police Chief Forces Two Boys to Clean Up Soap Markings

Chief of Police Ross Lane last night caught two local youths who admitted some extensive Halloween soaping including the writing of some obscene words on glass doors at Junior high school, and he made them clean up the results of their activity, part of which was washing an auto they had soaped.

They were reported to have done a complete job of soaping an auto on Webster near Raymond and of blocking Webster with yard furniture at a dark spot. Lane took to their trail, which was easy because of soap markings they left behind, and when he came upon them in an uptown pool room, they started to run out the back door.

However, Lane halted them and took them to the police station, where they admitted the acts. Lane then made them give the soaped automobile a complete washing last night and to remove the words from the junior high school glass. He also told them to clean up any other soaping they had done, because if he got reports on it, they would be back at the city hall.

The car they soaped so completely, Lane said had just been washed that afternoon.

Republicans Pull Out All Stops For Ike's Birthday Celebration

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republicans across the nation pulled out all the stops today for a day-early celebration of President Eisenhower's 66th birthday.

But President Eisenhower said that when his birthday actually comes Sunday what he wants most is for all Americans to dedicate themselves to peace.

Mr. Eisenhower expressed his birthday wishes Friday night when he stayed on for 15 minutes to answer more questions after a nationally televised "press conference" with about 100 Citizens for Eisenhower.

Mrs. Samuel Harper of Portland, Me., asked what he would like most for his birthday.

The Best Gift

"If I could have the best birthday present I could ever have, it would be exactly the same as that of every other American—an assurance that a just peace was on the horizon," he said.

"If I could be sure that every individual in America on Sunday, my birthday, would pause for just one second and say, 'I am dedicated to peace,' . . . that would be the best birthday present I could have."

Mr. Eisenhower's admirers were set to give him a nationwide birthday party today climaxed by a star-studded television show to-night (CBS 8 to 8:30 p. m. CST) featuring music and songs favored by him and the First Lady.

Nationwide Celebration

Parades, motorcades, rallies and individual parties in honor of Mr. Eisenhower's birthday were slated for throughout the nation. Thousands of "Ike cakes" were being baked. And tonight the President and his wife and their son and daughter-in-law, John and Barbara, will sit in the White House to enjoy the television show.

Awarded Contract

The Triangle Construction Co. of Kankakee has been awarded the contract by the State of Illinois for 2.83 miles of concrete pavement on Federal Aid Route 113 from U. S. Route 45 to Route 1 at the White-Gallatin county line for a figure of $690,110.

She was informed of the award by a phone call from L. B. Kimmel, farm adviser, who was at the show.

As a result of winning a grand championship award the steer will be sold individually this afternoon at the sale instead of being sold in group lots.

Marine Corporal Loses His Rank

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C. (AP)—A Marine corporal today faced reduction to private first class and two months of hard labor for assaulting a recruit who failed to say "Sir."

A Marine court martial Friday refused to hold that Cpl. Richard J. Bille, 21, of Erie, Pa., slugged the recruit, causing a hernia, but found him guilty of simple assault.

Bille was charged with striking Pvt. Donald Hamisfar, 20, of Norwalk, Ohio, last Aug. 23, the day before he was hospitalized for hernia. Later he underwent surgery to correct the hernia.

The court deliberated only 55 minutes before returning the verdict of guilty of simple assault, with a finding of innocent of maltreatment. After a second deliberation of 40 minutes the court ordered Bille reduced to private first class, and ordered a pay forfeiture of $65 monthly for two months.

3 Paratroopers Ride One Parachute Safely to Earth

FORT BRAGG, N. C. (AP)—The Army has disclosed that three paratroopers rode one parachute safely to earth in a demonstration jump at Ft. Benning, Ga., on Wednesday.

One of the three men, Specialist 3-C William J. Meek of Chillicothe, Ohio, was hurt, but his injuries were minor.

M-Sgt. Louis Berthiaume of New Orleans, who carried two other troopers to safety in the mishap, said his chute was fully opened when Pfc. Frank L. Rumminger of Pittsburgh, tangled in Berthiaume's suspension lines.

Rumminger said he grabbed Berthiaume and "hung on" when he saw his own chute collapsed.

Seconds later, Meek also became entangled in Berthiaume's chute.

None of the three men pulled the rip cords on their emergency chutes for fear they would make the snarl worse.

Resolution Will Be Placed Before Group Today

6-Point Formula Agreed On By Britain, France and Egypt

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Western diplomats said today the U. N. Security Council will unanimously endorse a six-point negotiating formula for the Suez dispute which virtually drops Anglo-French demands for internationalization of the waterway.

The formula was agreed on by the foreign ministers of Britain, France and Egypt Friday and submitted to a closed session of the council Friday night.

A resolution endorsing the principles was scheduled to be put before the council when it meets in public session this afternoon. The council was prepared to meet again tonight if necessary to clear the way for future Anglo-French-Egyptian negotiations, possibly in Geneva next month and probably on the ambassadorial level.

"Arrangements made should meet the following requirements: '1. There shall be free and open transit through the canal without discrimination overt and covert. (By way of clarification: This principle covers the same ground as the Constantinople Convention of 1888): That is, it covers the technical as well as the political aspects with which point three below is also concerned.

Respect Of Sovereignty "2. Egypt's sovereignty shall be respected.

"3. The operation of the canal shall be insulated from the politics of any country.

"4. The manner of fixing tolls and charges shall be decided by agreement between Egypt and the users.

"5. A fair proportion of the dues shall be allotted to development.

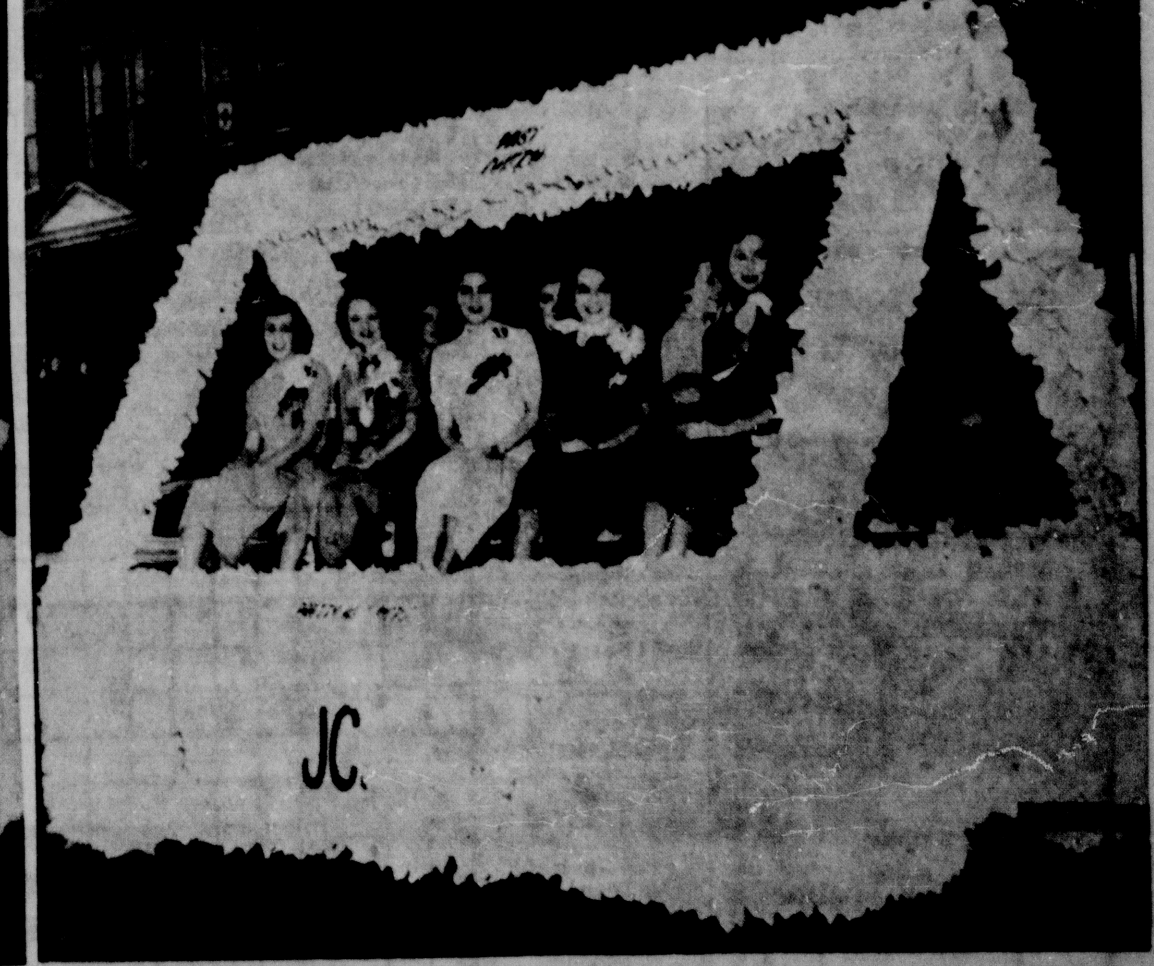

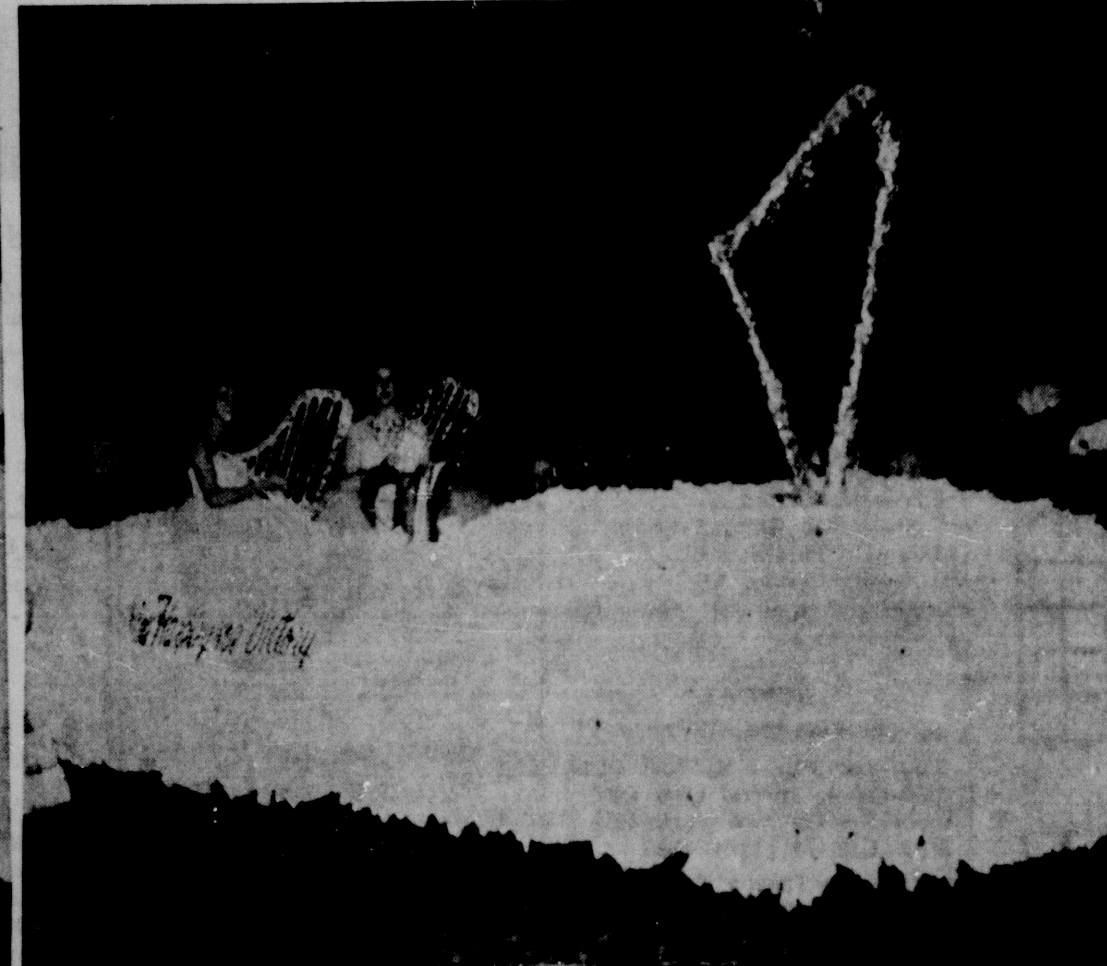

"6. In case of dispute, unresolved affairs between the Suez Canal Company and the Egyptian government shall be settled by arbitration with suitable terms of reference and suitable provisions for the payment of sums found to be due."

Warning: Rough Road Ahead

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT
When Congress enacted the $33.8 billion highway program this year, it was properly hailed as the first truly modern road plan of the post-war era, and a development certain to add much substance to the nation's prosperity.

Nothing has happened to alter this view of it, but certain facts are emerging which demonstrate rather forcefully that in this instance—as in so many—the lawmakers did not exactly "pass a miracle."

In other words, the business of translating this huge program into reality is subject to many important pitfalls. All kinds of detailed difficulties must be surmounted before major progress can be expected.

Traffic engineers meeting recently in San Francisco laid some of the problems out.

Some states haven't got the necessary legislative authority for cooperation in the program. In most cases their legislatures don't meet until 1957 or later, hence delays on this score are strongly indicated.

The key feature of the program is the 41,000-mile interstate road network, yet factual data are lacking even for the beginning phases of this effort. States and communities as a whole do not have enough spadework completed on possible highway locations, problems involved in land acquisition, and so on.

Sometimes these troubles can be met swiftly, but not always. Chicago needed 13 years to get all the land for its Congress street super-highway.

Warnings have gone out that there may not be enough traffic engineers around to do the job. Government pay scales aren't high enough to attract the needed manpower. Unless a pay boost comes in many cases, the problem may not be licked.

In addition there are the natural delays that follow from having to deal with many, many local and state governments, often within a limited geographic area. To get agreement on plans and routes can be almost as hard as winning Soviet approval of a proposition in the United Nations.

The engineers at San Francisco questioned, too, whether sufficient public support can be mustered for some parts of the vast project. Without that backing, important gaps in the 41,000-mile web might exist for years.

The program is projected, of course, over a 13-year period. But it will take much longer than that if there is not a spirited attack now on the hard-nut obstacles looming in its path.

Washington has waved a $33.8 billion wand, but it has wrought no magic. Ahead is tough, grubby work at the state, regional and local level.

The highway program today is a bright promise. Only American citizens in every corner of the land can make it a fact.

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

by DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: Nevada Money-Raiser Got The Wrong Senator When He Asked For More Funds; Whispers Started Against Sen. Wayne Morse's War Record; Sen. Chavez Of New Mexico Plans Another Junket.

WASHINGTON — A frantic Republican fund raiser got the shock of his life the other day when he blew into town seeking money to elect Rep. Cliff Young to the Senate.

Young, a Republican, is seeking to capture the seat of the late Pat McCarran's successor, Sen. Alan Bible, Democrat. So far, however, Bible looks strong. Hence Young is running scared.

After arriving in Washington, the Republican from Nevada put in a hurry-up phone call to Sen. Barry Goldwater, Arizona Republican, who was chairman of the GOP Senatorial committee, and is still a power when it comes to parceling out the GOP war chest to local candidates.

Something went wrong with the Capitol switchboard, however, and instead of Goldwater, the Republican from Nevada mistakenly got connected with the office of Sen. Albert Gore of Tennessee. Gore is a Democrat, also heads the current congressional probe of campaign contributions.

"Is the senator there? I've got to talk to him," declared the man from Nevada, breathlessly.

"No," answered Gore's secretary, unaware that the caller was actually trying to reach Senator Goldwater of Arizona.

"Well, have him call me when he comes in, and if I'm asleep when he calls, have him wake me up. It's important," the Nevada man declared.

Later, Senator Gore returned to his office, was told by his secretary that an excited gentleman from Nevada was trying to reach him. Senator Gore called the telephone number the Nevada man had left.

"Senator," began the man from Nevada, "we've got to have some money for Cliff Young out in Nevada. We originally figured we were 20,000 votes behind, and now we think we've got it down to only 15,000. But we're in a bad way unless we get some money. That gosh-darned senator who's investigating our campaign contributions is drying up our sources. I've just come from Chicago and they're all afraid to contribute."

"Just a minute," interrupted Senator Gore, finally able to get in a word edgewise. "My name is Gore, Albert Gore of Tennessee. I'm a Democrat. There must be some mistake."

"Oh, my God!" shouted the man from Nevada, hanging up the phone, realizing that the senator he had just spoken to was the same senator who was investigating campaign contributions and "drying up" the sources.

WAR VETERAN WHISPERS

With all the polls showing Doug McKay trailing Sen. Wayne Morse by a substantial margin, Oregon Republicans have launched a whispering campaign against Morse. They are spreading word that Morse is not a war veteran.

Bulletins from state GOP headquarters attack Morse and other Democrats as being "pitifully lacking" in military records.

The whispers, however, are being ginned to boomerang. For most prominent Republican candidates of late years were not war veterans, including Herbert Hoover, Thomas E. Dewey, Arthur Vandenberg, Bob Taft, and even Oregon's own Charley McNary who was vice presidential candidate with Willkie in 1940.

Three of the men credited with the anti-Morse whispers are also non-veterans: GOP National Committeeman Bob Mautz, Congressman Sam Coon, and ex-State Senator Phil Hinchcock.

Note — When Mrs. Roosevelt visited Oregon recently, she revealed that Wayne Morse tried to enlist during World War II, but that her husband had insisted Morse continue to serve on the War Labor Board, because of his experience in that field.

VACATIONING SENATOR

With scandalous reports still coming in about his last junket, New Mexico's Sen. Dennis Chavez is preparing to take off after the election on another junket to the exotic Orient.

His last overseas trip to Europe and North Africa made headlines when he ordered the Air Force to send two 66-passenger luxury planes to fly his party home from Europe. The Air Force dutifully furnished the planes, though it cost the taxpayers an estimated $20,000. Air Force generals knew, of course, that Chavez is chairman of the powerful Military Appropriations subcommittee.

The Chavez junket cost the taxpayers over $50,000, providing a fabulous vacation for his family and friends. Accompanying the senator besides his wife and son were his former campaign manager, A. T. Hannett; his personal physician, Dr. W. R. Lovelace; his administrative assistant, Charley Davis; and a number of office assistants. Both of Chavez's daughters and their husbands also joined him in Europe, though he insisted later that he "didn't even buy them a meal."

Having enjoyed the European vacation last year, Chavez is now planning a new plush trip—this time to the Far East.

Mother Protests Allowance to Son is Too Large

CHICAGO (AP)—A Superior Court judge has been asked to decide whether $42.50 a week is too large an allowance for a high school youth.

Mrs. Wenonah Leiner said that is the sum her estranged husband, Daniel, gives their 18-year-old son Mark as pocket money, and in a suit filed Thursday she sought an injunction against so large an allowance.

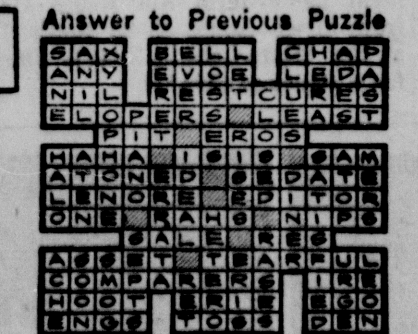

Her attorney, John P. Rinella, argued it is not good for the youth to be given so much money. He said Leiner lavished money on his son to win Mark's affections away from his mother, who works as a secretary and can't afford to give the boy any spending money.

Mrs. Leiner has filed suit for divorce against her husband, charging desertion. He has filed a cross-bill, on the same grounds.

Mark lives with his father in suburban Lombard and is a junior in high school there.

Six Survivors Laugh About Worst Shellacking In History 40 Years Ago

ATLANTA (AP) — Take heart, Don Newcombe, and listen to six survivors of perhaps the worst trouncing in sports history who came back to the scene of the massacre 40 years later to laugh about it.

It was in the real gone year of 1916 that a Georgia Tech football team trampled Cumberland University 22-0 (count 'em, 22-0). Friday night the stalwart Cumberland six came to Atlanta, still badly outnumbered, for a reunion with 20 members of the Tech squad of '16 mustered for the occasion.

The men of Cumberland's scars have healed remarkably well. Four are lawyers one is a banker and the sixth is a newspaperman who also dabbles in Texas oil and cattle.

Pentagon Plans Final Decision on Manpower Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon plans to make a final decision on proposed manpower cuts and defense spending increases before Christmas.

President Eisenhower will disclose the decision when he sends his budget to Congress in January.

Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson said Friday the Pentagon tentatively plans to cut the armed forces by 100,000 or more men and ask for $2 billion more for fiscal 1958 which begins next July 1. Wilson said military spending will rise probably "something like" 4 to 6 per cent next year but "certainly less" than 10 per cent. That would mean a $1.5 to $2.2 billion increase in this year's spending rate of $36.5 billion.

He indicated he is considering the same level of manpower cuts — 4 to 6 per cent. This would mean a reduction of 112,000 to 168,000.

Ex-Official Says Hodge Closed, Bought Into Bank

CHICAGO (AP) — The Senate Banking Committee's one man hearings heard Friday how imprisoned ex-State Auditor Orville Hodge bought his way into a bank and then tried to use it to cash one of his now-famous phony checks.

Ex-director and president of the suburban Elmwood Park State Bank, S. Edward Bloom, told how Hodge closed his bank for mismanagement, then teamed up with former Illinois governor Dwight H. Green in reorganizing it.

When the bank reopened Hodge had a $300,000 interest. The bank's current president, John H. Russell, told the committee Hodge unsuccessfully tried to use this interest to get an $80,000 loan for one of his numerous business fronts.

The manipulations of the bank by Hodge have been listed as the principal causes for the hearings.

In the course of the hearings, an anonymous tip to Committee Chairman Sen. William Fulbright (D-Ark) led to the arrest of the bank's head teller on embezzlement charges.

Chester Joseph Biegalski, 46, reportedly admitted taking $26,600, "to play the part of a big shot."

The thefts occurred over a three year period. Investigators said they were not linked to the Hodge case.

Biegalski was released Friday on $5,000 bond. He is scheduled for hearings Monday.

Russell backed up an earlier statement by Green that it was "standard practice for banks to make political contributions to both parties."

Wealthy Executive Tells of Fatally Shooting Secretary

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A wealthy insurance executive, accused of murdering his red-haired secretary and hauling her body in the trunk of his car for more than 24 hours, told police Friday he shot the woman while she kissed him.

Bald, bespectacled Walter G. Borchers Jr., 45, reenacted the crime for officers near the Pasadena Rose Bowl where he said his secretary, Mary Dorothy McCully, 31, was killed Tuesday night.

Borchers said that he had taken the gun away from the pretty secretary after she threatened to kill herself and was trying to distract her.

"She leaned over and kissed me . . . and I heard that noise," Borchers told officers. "I couldn't think what happened, it sounded so loud in the car, until she fell on the seat beside me. She was so nice."

A BOY'S PRAYER

Dear God... there's so much I'd like to say to You. It's that way lots of times. I want to talk to You, and then somehow I get stuck for words.

I guess I do some stupid things, sometimes... like that fight with Butch Hendley yesterday. He said something I didn't like and then I said something, and that was it. I guess I won, but afterwards I was kind of ashamed. I told Dad about it last night and he went for a walk with me and we looked up at the sky and the stars. Everything looked so big, all of a sudden, that it scared me. It seemed too big to understand.

Then Dad told me that there are lots of things like the sky and the stars, too big for people to ever understand. And he said that that's where Faith comes in, and that it is good to have the Church to put our trust in.

I got to thinking about that, and I told Dad that I'd kind of like to ask Butch to come to Church with us next Sunday morning, but that I was afraid he wouldn't come. Dad grinned at me and said, "Why not ask him and see?"

Dear God... I did ask Butch, and he's coming. Butch hasn't been to Church regularly like I have, so maybe when it comes to praying he'll get stuck for words even worse than I do. But You'll listen to him anyway, won't You? Because he needs You very much... just like I do... just like all of us do.

Thank You, God.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church: They are (1) For his own sake (2) For his children's sake (3) For the sake of his community and nation (4) For the sake of the Church itself which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Sunday School Lesson

By Dr. Archie E. Brown

Pastor First Baptist Church Vandalia, Ill.

The Ten Commandments

Exodus 20:1-17

By Dr. Archie E. Brown
GOLDEN TEXT: "Thou shalt have no other Gods before me." (Exodus 20:3)

INTRODUCTION—If there were a golden chain hanging from the throne of God with ten gold links, and your soul was hanging on the other end of that golden chain over the bottomless pits of hell; and if any one of those gold links should break, what would happen? Your soul would drop into the bottomless pits of hell.

There are ten commandments given by God through Moses to the people of this world. They constitute the basis for all moral law, and your soul will be the results. Jesus said that if you break one you break them all. In other words, as in the illustration above, when one gold link breaks, the result is the same as if all ten had been broken.

Every person has broken God's law. Every person has "sinned and come short of the glory of God." Thanks be to God, He has provided a way of escape for every sinner. That way is through the atonement of His Son at Calvary.

I OUR GOD (V. 1-11)

What do you think of God? How big is the God you worship? Some folks act as if they worship a mighty small God. A wrong attitude toward God will make your whole life wrong. It is necessary to know Him intimately to be able to worship Him rightly.

1. WHO IS GOD? (1-3) Listen, friend, do you really know God? Did you know that it is possible to have daily fellowship with God? It is! In fact, your life is just not complete without this fellowship. He is concerned with your every need. With your cooperation He can and will meet these needs.

2. WORSHIP GOD (4-7) "And showing mercy unto thousands of them that love me." It is necessary that you be in love with God. Your love for Him must be greater than your love for any one or any thing. You should never take His name in vain. You should worship Him.

3. REMEMBER THE SABBATH (8-11) God has arranged in His plan of things for a day of rest for every person. Those who disobey this law will run into tragic results down life's road. Man is so constituted that a day of rest out of each seven days is absolutely necessary to normal life. The Lord's Day should be a "holy day" and not a "holiday." It is the day of worship. Any other use of it is wrong!

II OUR FELLOWMAN (V. 12-17)

If you are right with God you are also right with your fellowman. It is an impossibility for you to be wrong with your fellowman and right with God. If you have enmity or hatred toward any person in your heart, God will not even hear you when you pray.

1. HOME LIFE (12) This commandment has to do with parents and children. It is given with a promise. Children are to honor their parents. Any son or daughter, no matter how young or old, who disobeys this commandment is on the road to wrecking their own homes.

2. OUR BODIES (13-14) Murder and adultery are grouped together. The wrath of God will be visited upon those who destroy the lives and bodies either of themselves or others. Illegal abortion is murder and will be dealt with as such by God. Adultery is a sin against the body. Through Christ Jesus even these sins can be forgiven.

3. OTHERS (15-17) We must realize the rights of others. We must never take that which belongs to another. It is dishonest to do so. God commands against it.

CONCLUSION—When you read the Ten Commandments, you realize that you stand guilty before God. Except for His tender love and mercy we would everyone be cast into eternal hell. However, He has a plan of escape. He tells us in 1 John 1:9 that: "If you will confess your sins, (to God) I will be faithful and just to forgive our sins, and to cleanse you from all unrighteousness." Friend, why not come to Him right now?

... AND IF I AM ELECTED ...—Looks like a contented candidate is making a grass roots political speech that holds her listeners enthralled on a Rocky Mount, N. C. farm. All, that is, except the maverick at right who seems to take a dim view of the proceedings. Probably thinks the speaker got where she is by pull, but fact is she rose to her position of eminence simply by climbing up on her owner's feed truck.

THE LONG NIGHT

By MARTIN CAIDIN

Copyright 1956 by Martin Caidin. Distributed by NEA Service.

XXIV
John had never seen a hospital which resembled the center of a battlefield. If order prevailed, it was disguised in the incredible number of injured milling about without direction. The truck had driven to the rear of the hospital, where the platform normally employed for delivery of food and supplies had been converted for unloading patients arriving in the large trucks. Stretcher patients were aligned on the platform floor, waiting to be carried inside. Nurses moved among the injured, checking for injuries burst open during the jouncing truck ride. He watched one nurse move a blanket over a patient's face. One less to worry about.

It would be impossible, he realized, to learn anything about Sue in the corridor, which simply served as a waiting center until the doctors could receive the victims.

The sight which greeted him as he rounded the building corner was unbelievable. Even with his newly-acquired apathy to mass suffering the scene shocked him. A teeming mass sprawled across the expansive lawn frontage. Men, women, and children were everywhere. The entire face of the hospital blazed with light breaking through the hastily-erected shelters of blankets, sheets, and curtains thrown over the windows to replace the shattered glass. Electric lines ran from the lower-floor windows across the lawn and into the parking lots from these thin black lines, tied to trees or held high by stakes driven into the ground, glaring bulbs and floodlights cast harsh light upon the packed and agonized humanity.

Huddled together on the ground for comfort against the cold were thousands of the injured awaiting entrance to the hospital. The bowed heads and distorted forms stretched as far as John could see, beyond the hospital grounds, choking up at the wide iron gates, sprawling on sidewalks and streets. From this slowly-unfolding nest arose strange and horrible sounds.

He did not attempt to enter the hospital. Studying the clamoring throng at the wide doors, restrained only by brute force, John realized the futility of entrance here. He returned to the west wing of the hospital, and again met only hordes of wounded scrambling for entrance and medical attention. Every doorway was the same.

He shouldered his way back to the truck platform. But now there were policemen stationed here. They guarded the platform and the waiting trucks, prepared to foil any sudden surge where the stretcher cases already exceeded the hospital's capacity.

John walked up to a truck. An officer barred his progress with a cautious, "What'dya want?"

John's face registered surprise. "Why, I was told to report here by one of the doctors. He said I should go around to the back of the hospital, that they needed stretcher bearers to unload the trucks."

The law stepped aside. "Okay, kid, right over there. They can use you, all right."

John moved up to a big tractor-trailer, waited at the end of the shuffling line of men. When his turn came he entered the vehicle from the platform and, with another man, lifted a stretcher assigned to them by a nurse. He slipped. The truck floorboards were greasy with blood.

Inside the corridor another nurse stopped them. "Just a moment," she said, "let me check the card." They halted, waiting. "Take this one to the third floor, Ward G. A nurse will direct you from there."

"How do we get to that ward?" The man behind John called. "Just keep going straight down the corridor until you come to the first left turn."

Finally they were at the elevator doors. A line of stretchers preceded them, and they placed their patient on the floor until their turn came.

John took advantage of the opportunity to gain some information. "Looks pretty bad in here, doesn't it?" he led.

This Week at DIXON SPRINGS

University of Illinois Experiment Station

(A round-up of the week's work, activities, and observations at the University of Illinois Dixon Springs Experiment Station near Robbs in southern Illinois, prepared by the Station's staff.)

Market for Wheat

We were filled with awe when we recently saw gigantic iron-clawed machines hoisting, tilting and tipping heavily laden railway cars from end to end, gently shaking even single grains of wheat from the far corners of the car. We began to realize the tremendous market for wheat through a modern milling plant when we saw the grain spill into the hungry maws of pits to be carried rapidly in a seemingly never-ending stream to many huge storage bins.

Flour Products

It was this market that a number of southern Illinois farm and home advisers and agricultural extension workers visited on September 27 as guests of Iglehart Mills in Evansville, Indiana. It is from such mills as this throughout the soft wheat belt that the nation's housewives buy superior cake flours and flours to bake those mouth-watering, butter-melting, molasses-dripping hot biscuits. These wheat products plus doughnuts, pie crusts and crackers provide the real market for soft wheats. The hard winter wheats are used to make bread, and for this purpose they are superior. But the hard wheats do not fill the bill for flour for cakes, biscuits and pie crusts. Eastern millers know this and refuse to knowingly mill hard wheats.

Hard Wheat Out Of Place

Nonetheless, some farmers in the soft wheat belt are growing hard wheats. This is surprising to us at the Dixon Springs Experiment Station, because George McKibben in his closely controlled variety trials, has found no yield advantage for the hard wheat over such soft varieties as Seneca, Saline and Knox. Even if a yield and price advantage existed for hard wheats, growing them in this area would be unwise. We are told that hard wheats moved into soft wheat areas become intermediate, neither hard nor soft, with milling qualities that suit neither the bread flour nor the cake flour miller. Eventually we could expect nothing but a reduced market and lower prices for all wheat coming from a mixed wheat area.

Stop—Think

Consider not only the loss in farm income from mixed wheat, but also the loss of investment in rolling stock, elevators, mills and bakeries and the reduced employment in the wheat and milling business resulting from mixed wheats and a reduced market. Consider further the time and effort your own plant breeders are spending to produce varieties of soft wheats that yield more grain with greater disease and insect resistance than some of the hard wheats bred for another locale and another climate. Finally, visit a modern milling plant. You will learn that the miller has problems, too, and you will not be bored.

Farm Housing Loans Available

Eligible farm owners in Saline county may borrow from the Farmers Home Administration to build or repair farm houses and other essential farm buildings. E. Ronald Coon, the agency's county supervisor serving local farm families said today.

He said the farm housing loans were made available under recent legislation. A total of $50,000,000 has been provided for these loans. Interest on the loans will be 4 percent year on the unpaid principal. Repayments will be scheduled over periods up to 33 years.

A housing loan will be secured by a mortgage on the borrower's farm.

The agency expects applicants to obtain the building plans and specifications for the improvements to be financed with the loans. To help the borrower obtain construction that meets generally accepted standards of soundness, the Farmers Home Administration will review the plans and inspect the construction as it progresses.

The local Farmers Home Administration county committee will determine whether or not an applicant is eligible for a housing loan. To be eligible, an applicant must be the owner of a farm, be unable to obtain suitable credit for dwellings and other buildings from other lenders, and have enough income from the farm or from the farm and other sources to meet family living and farm operating expenses and repay his debts.

Farm housing loans are made under the authority of Title V of the Housing Act of 1949, as amended.

Further information on the loans may be obtained by contacting the Farmers Home Administration, Harrisburg National Bank Building, Harrisburg, Illinois.

mate is 28.5 bushels per acre, 3 bushels greater than the previous high.

The service said "it seems unlikely that final harvest returns will alter materially present yield indications." It said weather conditions have been almost perfect for harvest of corn and soybeans, although it has been too dry for fall plowing and planting.

Forecast Record Crops

SPRINGFIELD (U) — The State Federal Crop Reporting Service today forecast all-time records in both yield and total production for Illinois' 1956 corn and soybean crops.

The corn crop was estimated at 587 million bushels and the soybean crop at 136 million bushels. This would make the corn crop 23 million bushels greater than the previous record and the soybean crop 38 per cent greater than last year's crop.

The present yield estimate for the corn crop is 66 bushels per acre, 5 bushels greater than the previous high set in 1948 and 13 bushels greater than the 10-year average.

The present soybean yield esti-

By Albert Meyer
The arrival of fall, signalling the maturing of grass pastures, and the approach of freezing weather which will end legumes for good grazing means that farmers having dairy cattle in production should be thinking about supplementing pasture with some hay or silage. Grain feeding also should be increased according to the cows' volume of milk production. The better the cow as a milk producer, the more supplementing will be necessary if the volume of milk flow is to stay up.

The main reason for feeding concentrates is to supplement the roughness. The amount of protein required in the grain mixture depends entirely upon the roughage quality.

Poor quality roughage—such as non-legume hay which is weedy or was damaged by rain while being cured—requires as high as 20 percent total protein in supplemental feeding. On the other hand, high quality legume roughage requires only about eight percent total protein.

Unfortunately, most roughages available for feeding to dairy cattle in this area are not of this high quality, according to Howard Olson, a dairy specialist at Southern Illinois University.

Here are general rules to follow in choosing the concentrate required:

When the roughage is high quality pasture or an excellent grade of legume hay or silage, supplement with 8 to 11 percent protein.

With medium quality legume or good grass-legume mixture hays and grass silage, use 11 to 14 percent protein. A common feeding practice in this same group could be good quality legume hay and corn silage with the added protein.

When feeding low protein roughages, such as stemmy legume hays and average quality grass hays or grass and corn silage, supplement with 14 to 17 percent protein.

The poorest quality roughages, such as over-ripe grass hay, straw, or corn stover need 17 to 20 percent protein. However, such roughage ought to be fed, only to dry cattle or used for emergencies. A high producing cow deserves and needs better roughages if she is to keep up her normal flow of milk. If the cow is allowed to go down in milk production because of an unbalanced ration, it is difficult to get the volume back up again.

The amount of grain needed per cow depends on the volume as well as the fat content of milk produced. Hence, some breeds of dairy cattle require more grain than others. A suggestion is that Holstein, Brown Swiss and Ayrshire dairy cows receive one pound of grain for every four pounds of milk produced. Jerseys and Guernseys require a little heavier proportion of grain — one pound to three pounds of milk.

Dairy specialists say that grain available on the farm ought to make up the bulk of the grain mixture, adding enough soybean meal or other high protein feed to bring the total up to the level needed for the kind of roughage used. Usually the supplement with the highest percent of protein is the most economical to use with farm grown grains.

Dry Spring Causes Tree-Planting Loss

A spot check in 25 northern Illinois counties recently showed an average loss of about 50 percent in 1956 spring tree-planting demonstration sites.

Harold Scholten, extension forester at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture, who made the check, says that most of the tree losses he found happened during one spring dry spell after the trees were planted.

Normally you could expect spring rains to provide enough soil moisture for survival and growth of newly planted trees, Scholten says. But an unusual and critical dry spell during early spring, along with the dry fall and winter, was the primary cause of the heavy tree losses.

While as an average about half of the planted trees were lost, actual survival rates ranged from 10 to 95 percent, the forester reports. Survivals were best on sites where there was enough soil moisture at time of planting, and poorest where there was little or no soil moisture when the trees were planted.

On one farm with a 100 percent loss, a dairy herd broke through the fence and ate or trampled all the trees that survived the droughty weather. Other losses were due to competition from weeds, grass, alfalfa and other vegetative growth. Last year's dry fall and winter also caused some loss of other trees of all sizes and ages. Red, white, jack and Scotch pine were represented in the plantings. The check showed a great variation in survivals according to soil types, vegetation and topography.

Most Illinois farmers who plant nursery tree stock will not experience such high losses. But if you need to replace lost stock or plan new plantings, you can get tree order blanks from your county farm adviser. Others will be filled from the state nurseries next spring on a first-come, first-served basis.

FTC to Monitor Commercials

WASHINGTON (U)—The Federal Trade Commission today announced the creation of a new investigation section to monitor radio and television commercials "for false and misleading claims."

It said radio and television stations have done a "generally good job of screening out false advertising." But it said the new monitoring system "will offer even greater protection to the public."

FTC Orders Carter Firm to Quit Making Claims for Pills

WASHINGTON (U)—The Federal Trade Commission Thursday night again ordered the makers of "Carter's Little Liver Pills" to quit claiming their famous pills are "an effective treatment" for such ailments as liver trouble, headaches and the "worn out" feeling.

The commission also ordered Carter Products Inc., New York, to drop the word "liver" from the brand name. It said the word implies that the pills have "some therapeutic effect on the liver which is false."

It said that the pills have no therapeutic effect beyond that of an ordinary laxative.

Public Aid Assistance Up

SPRINGFIELD (U)—Public aid expenditures rose $264,719 and the caseload was up 2,618 persons from July to August, the Illinois Public Aid Commission reported today.

Expenditures for the five aid programs in August were $12,693,821, IPAC Executive Secretary Garrett W. Keaster said. This was an increase of $264,719 over July and $45,173 over August, 1955.

The August caseload total was 272,922, compared with 270,304 in July and 274,365 in August, 1955. Keaster said the increased caseload was due mainly to the continuing effect of a month-long steel strike in the Chicago area.

The five public aid programs are general assistance, blind, old age and disability assistance, and aid to dependent children.

Locals Never Threaten But Show Some Flashes Of Good Defensive Play

The Harrisburg Bull Dogs last night showed flashes of fine defensive play but it was not consistent and powerful Centralia marred the Harrisburg Homecoming, 32-0, in a South Seven football game at Taylor Field.

Except for Benton, which gained a 13 to 13 tie with the Orphans, the Bull Dogs did about as well with the boys from Marion county as other foes have done. Centralia beat Flora 53-9, Herrin 54-13 and strong Murphysboro 33-13 in previous encounters.

Centralia scored once in each of three quarters and twice in the other, while Harrisburg never threatened. There were some defensive gems at times, however, with Donald Biggs, halfback, figuring in on four or five exceptional tackles. Eddie Price, Lou Ray Williams and Gary Aldridge also made some nice defensive plays.

Three hard-running, speedy backs—Dick Norwood, Paul Kessler and Sylvester Hutcherson—got off for long runs a number of times to keep Centralia at a decisive advantage.

Centralia scored in the first period Norwood ran the final four yards for the first touchdown and Big Hight kicked the extra point.

In the second quarter Lonnie O'Neal plunged one yard to score. The third quarter saw Hutcherson race 51 yards on the first play from scrimmage and Norwood run 20 yards for tallies.

In the final period Kessler ran 43 yards into the end zone and Hight kicked the extra point.

The statistics: First downs —

Centralia 15, Harrisburg 3; yards gained rushing—Centralia 340, Harrisburg 50; passing—Centralia completed two out of five for 28 yards, Harrisburg completed one out of 11 for 14 yards and had one intercepted. Total yards from scrimmage—Centralia 366, Harrisburg 61. Penalties—Centralia 40 yards, Harrisburg 20 yards.

Stengel Rehired For Two Years At $80,000 Per

NEW YORK (U-P)—Casey Stengel, an authentic millionaire who also is old enough to be collecting social security payments, began plotting plans for at least two more pennants for his world champion Yankees today, at a salary of $80,000 per year.

Stengel was rehired Friday as Yankee manager under the two-year contract, even though he will be 68 at the completion of it and has all the money he ever will be able to spend.

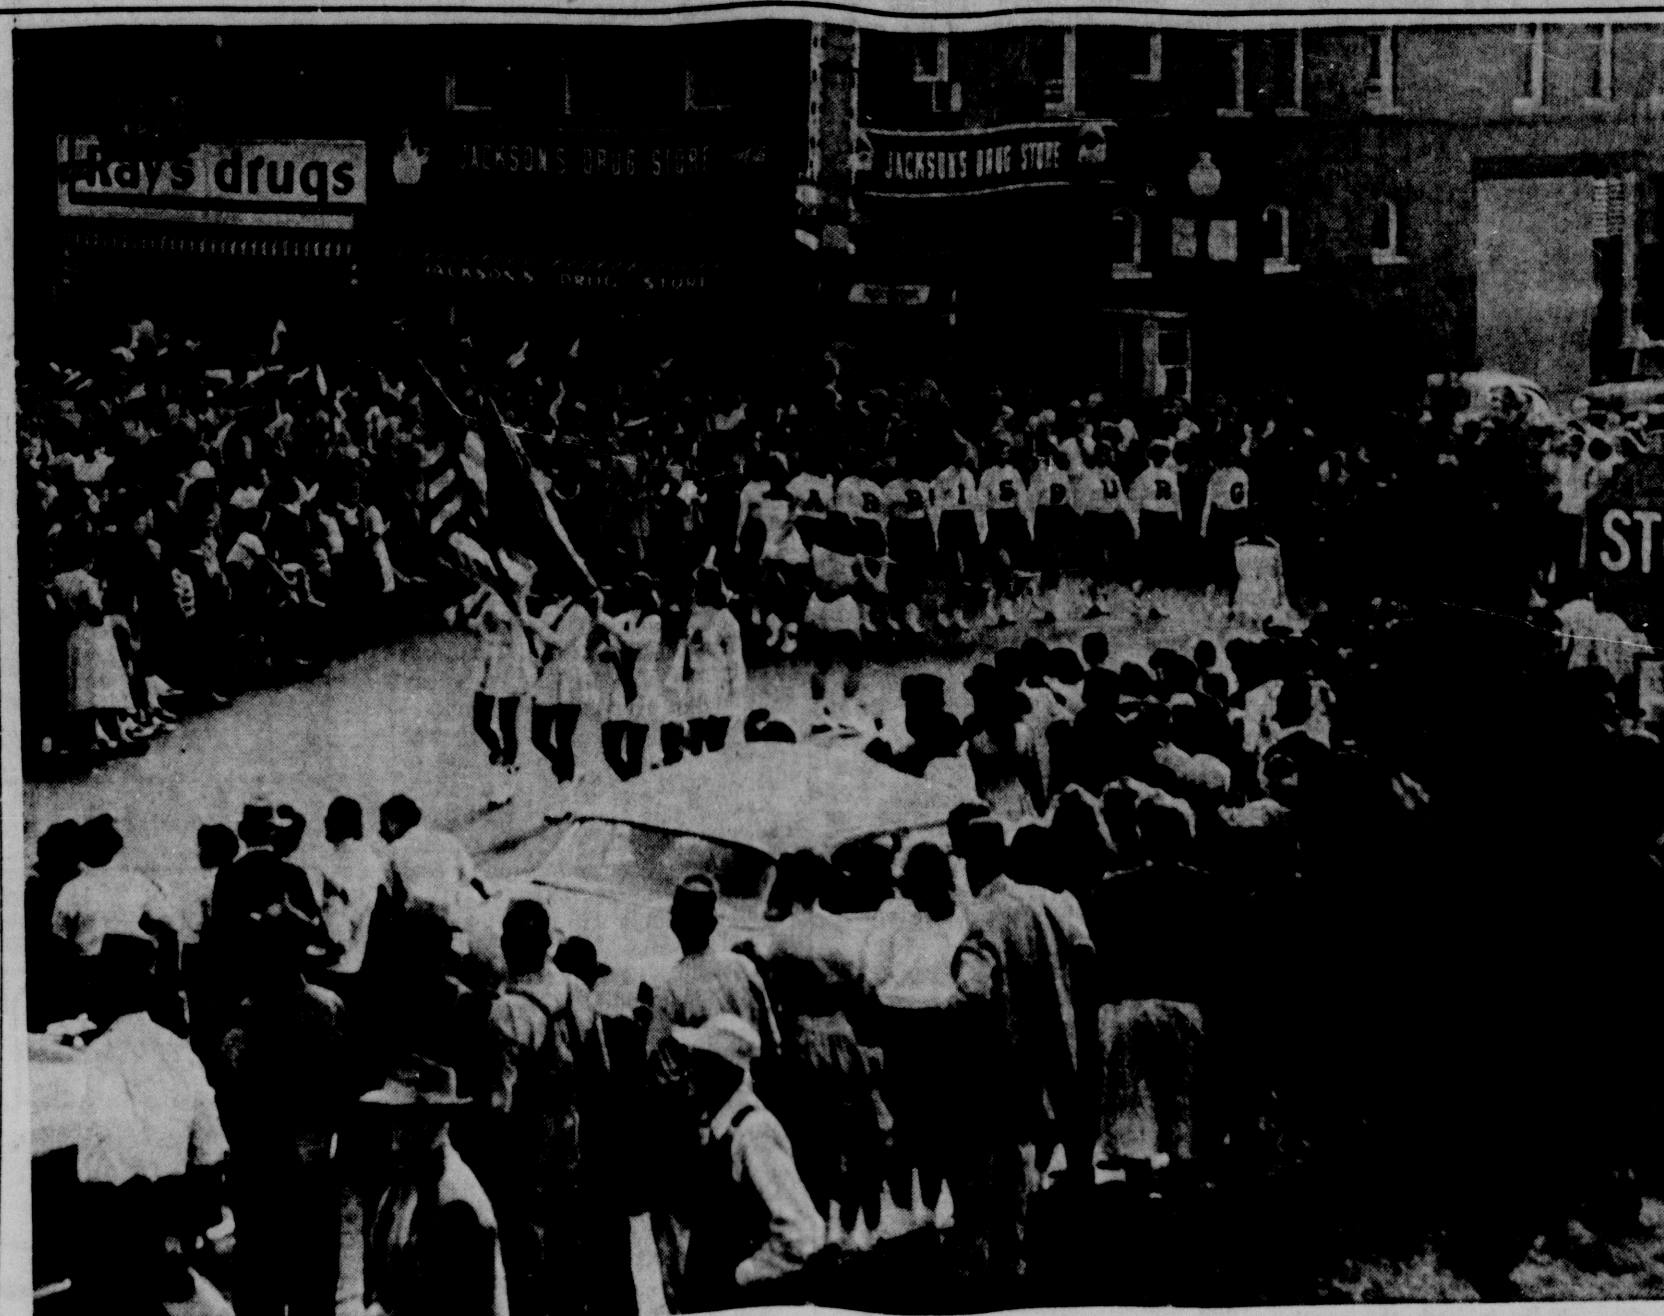

"I don't see why I should think about quitting," he said. "I enjoy the job, my health is good, and my boys come through for me."

The announcement by the Yanks confirmed a United Press exclusive of last Aug. 17 that Stengel would get the job again.

Cagey Casey, who once again confounded the baseball world by coming from an 0-2 won and lost deficit in the World Series to win the classic with Brooklyn in seven games, was assured by General Manager George Weiss that he could put another strong-contending team on the field next season.

"We don't intend to stand still," said Weiss. "Brooklyn stood pat and had trouble winning the pennant this year. We hope to provide Stengel with a stronger club next year."

THERE ARE THE COLORS AND THE LETTER GIRLS and here comes the band! The 1956 HTHS Homecoming parade is greeted by hundreds of spectators as it makes a turn off South Main street onto Poplar at the southwest corner of the square. The parade began on Webster street at the Junior high school, turned north at Main and made its way around the square. It then moved out on West Poplar to McKinley and went south on McKinley to Sloan, where it disbanded after prizes were awarded.

Unbeaten Eagles Bury Carmi Under 41-0 Barrage in Homecoming Tilt

Fifth Victory in Row for Eldorado; Carmi's Second Loss

The Eldorado Eagles, really "up" for the annual homecoming football game, buried Carmi under a 41-0 scoring barrage Friday night.

Eldorado remains unbeaten this season, with five victories in as many starts. Carmi suffered its second loss, also in five starts.

There were stars galore for the Eagles. The linemen literally cut Carmi's forward wall to ribbons, charging through time-after-time to smear the ball carrier before the play was underway. The hard charging "mighty mites," weights between Mosby's 150 pounds to Overton's 165, forced Carmi to commit six fumbles and five were recovered by the alert Eagles.

And the backfield performers were "strutting their stuff" for the large homecoming crowd, probably the largest to ever see a football game at Eldorado other than when Harrisburg was the visitor.

Enjoyable Night
Jerry Rains, a stocky fullback getting his first real chance of the season, came through in championship style. He repeatedly cracked the center of the Carmi line for needed yardage and his line bucking kept the Carmi defense from ever getting set. When the line closed up to stop Rains, quarterback Justice sent one of his scabbards—Lester Feuguay or Don Gwaltney—slanting off tackle or circling the ends.

Ocean waters near the equator contain about 35 parts or less of salt per 1,000 parts of water.

It was Eldorado's finest performance of the season and the Eagle followers were "living it up." It was homecoming and then Carmi had beaten Eldorado the last three starts. Yep, it was an enjoyable night for Eldorado and the fans let it be known they liked it.

Early in the first quarter Corbin recovered a fumble for Eldorado only 32 yards from the TD line and in eight plays the score was made, Feuguay going the last two yards. Gwaltney ran for the point.

Recover Carmi Fumble
Eldorado was marching downfield as the quarter ended and early in the second frame Gwaltney went over for the TD. A Justice-to-Kingery pass scored the PAT.

A short time later a Carmi punt was downed on the 35 and on the first play from scrimmage Gwaltney broke off tackle and behind good blocking went 65 yards to score. Feuguay ran for the PAT.

With the third quarter only four minutes old Feuguay recovered a Carmi fumble in scoring territory and on the first play from scrimmage Feuguay got off a 34-yard TD run. The point try failed.

In the early minutes of the fourth frame Feuguay went two yards to score and Justice ran for the PAT. Minutes later McMahon recovered a Carmi fumble and in five plays Eldorado had gone 20 yards, with Feuguay running the final six, to score. Dempsey ran for the PAT, making the score Eldorado 41, Carmi 0, the way the game ended.

Starting lineups — Carmi: Hankins and Loewenherz ends, McCombs and Bell tackles, McKinney and Wiley guards, Boyd center, Cozart quarterback, Hawkins and Fretzsch halfbacks and Mitchell fullback; Eldorado: Kingery and Woods ends, Overton and Goodley tackles, Mosby and Mitchell guards, Pool center, Justice quarterback, Gwaltney and Feuguay halfbacks and Rains fullback. Oiler seeing lots of action were Monroe, McMahon, Corbin, Willis, Hausser and Dempsey and practically the entire squad entered the game.

Officials: Strausz, Carbondale; Stilley, Eldorado; Moore, Mt. Vernon.

Champaign Stops Danville, 20-6, for Fifth Win in Row; Benton Trips Herrin

By United Press
Pekin jolted previously undefeated Peoria Manual 13-8 and Streator upended Peoria Central 7-0 Friday night in two top Big Twelve Conference football games.

Champaign, the Big Twelve title favorite, Thursday night notched its fifth victory in a row by stopping Danville 20-6.

The Manual Rams had flattened four straight opponents before running into Pekin, which had bounced back to win three in a row after dropping its opener.

In other Big Twelve matches Friday, Bloomington dumped Lincoln 20-13 and Springfield slammed Decatur 20-6.

Defending champion Elgin continued its winning ways in the Big Eight Conference, beating Rockford-East 14-9 for its fifth victory this season. Other Big Eight scores had Aurora East over La Salle Peru 26-6, Aurora West over Freeport 12-0, and Rockford West over Joliet 25-0.

In southern Illinois, Mount Carmel's Golden Aces tied Salem, a favorite for the North Egypt title, 7-7, and Centralia, favorite for the South Seven crown, moved down Harrisburg 32-0.

Benton defeated defending South Seven champion Herrin 26-19, Marion walloped Johnston City 41-7, and Eldorado clobbered Carmi 41-0.

Eastern Illinois defending champion Charleston, which had its long victory streak snapped by Effingham last week, bounced back by smashing Marshall 53-12. Effingham pasted Paris 27-7.

Litchfield, conqueror of defending Midstate champion Pana, belted Kincaid 20-13, while Pana had to settle for a non-conference 7-7 tie with Granite City. Hillsboro beat Shelbyville 20-7.

In the Chicago suburbs, Barrington, which has regularly run up big scores while winning four straight, stayed in form and demolished Woodstock 46-0. Crystal Lake white washed McHenry 25-0.

Rory Calhoun Wins TKO Over John Sullivan

CLEVELAND (U-P)—Fast rising young middleweight Rory Calhoun of White Plains, N. Y., earned a fistful of future bouts with an 8th round technical knockout of England's John L. Sullivan in a nationally televised fight in Cleveland Arena Friday night.

Calhoun, favored 8-5 going into the bout, floored Sullivan with a right left right combination to close the seventh round, and Cleveland Referee Jackie Davis called off the aggressive batter only nine seconds into the eighth.
